

Abstract of the Disclosure

A blade or punch assembly for double-ended nibbler tools which affords easier removal by in part providing a blade having central portions of a single diameter equal to or slightly less than the composite bore 5 through which it is adapted to extend.